1. The One Truth Your Industry Is Facing

The hospitality brands that will define the next decade in Andhra Pradesh are not being built on the best recipe or the lowest price. They are being built on the discipline of running a clean operation, communicating a clear identity, and giving customers a reason to return that goes beyond familiarity.

Subbayya Gari Hotel has earned something rare: genuine customer loyalty built on a product that people trust. A business generating Rs. 49 lakhs per month in restaurant revenue in a single location in Vijayawada is not an accident. It is the result of years of consistency, care, and relationship. That is the foundation. What this proposal addresses is everything that needs to be built on top of that foundation to take this business to its next level.

The hospitality category in Andhra Pradesh is at an inflection point. Organised players from Hyderabad are expanding into Tier 2 cities. Zomato and Swiggy have changed how customers discover, evaluate, and talk about food businesses. Families who once chose their dining destination based on word of mouth are now influenced by ratings, photographs, and digital visibility. In this environment, a business that runs on instinct and personal relationship cannot hold ground against one that runs on systems and structured positioning.

This proposal covers a three-month engagement across two coordinated tracks. The first track is Business Restructuring: building the operational systems, staff structures, technology infrastructure, and cost discipline that a growing multi-unit hospitality business requires. The second track is Brand Strategy: giving Subbayya Gari Hotel a clear positioning, consistent communication, and a brand framework that works for the business whether a customer walks in, orders online, or sees the name on a signboard.

Engagement Track	What It Covers	Timeline	Investment
Track 1: Business Restructuring	Operational systems, technology oversight, inventory frameworks, staff structuring, cost tracking, SOPs, kitchen systems, and guided execution support	Month 1 to Month 3	Rs. 6,00,000
Track 2: Brand Strategy (One-Time Consulting)	Brand positioning, perception audit, communication restructuring, digital and Zomato strategy, multi-unit brand architecture, and brand guidelines	Month 2 to Month 3	Rs. 1,00,000
Combined Engagement	Both tracks, coordinated delivery, on-site visits, and unified playbook handover	3 Months	Rs. 7,00,000 + GST

2. A Note from Sandeep N

Dear Krishna garu,

What you have built at Subbayya Gari Hotel deserves genuine acknowledgement. Running a restaurant, a cafe, and a sweet shop from a single location, sustaining customer loyalty over years, and generating the kind of revenue performance your business shows is not something that happens by chance. It takes real commitment to quality and a deep understanding of what your customers value. Our team approached this proposal with full respect for that.

What I also see, very clearly, is a business that is ready for its next chapter but does not yet have the infrastructure to support it. The challenges you described in our discovery session are not signs of a failing business. They are signs of a successful one that grew faster than the systems beneath it. That is a much better problem to have, and it is a solvable one. The absence of a unified reporting system, the absence of a management layer, the fragmented inventory process, and the undeveloped brand communication are each individually addressable. Together, they represent a significant opportunity.

We structured this as two tracks rather than one because operational clarity and brand clarity must happen in the right sequence. You cannot build a powerful brand on a business that does not run cleanly. And you cannot sustain operational discipline without knowing what your brand stands for and who it is speaking to. The three months we are proposing are not about adding complexity to your life. They are about simplifying it.

By the end of this engagement, you will have systems that run without your personal involvement in every decision, a team with defined roles and measurable performance, a management structure that you can trust, and a brand that communicates clearly to every customer who encounters Subbayya Gari Hotel, whether in the dining room, on Zomato, or on your Instagram page. That is what we are here to build with you.

With respect and commitment,

Sandeep N

3. Where Your Business Stands Today

Subbayya Gari Hotel operates three business units from a single location in Vijayawada: the main hotel restaurant, a cafe, and a sweet shop. A fourth unit is under consideration for the future. The restaurant generated Rs. 49.46 lakhs in billing last month. The business operates from 6:00 AM to 11:00 PM daily, targets 600 meals per day, and serves customers at an average dining spend of Rs. 200 to Rs. 300 per person. The dining to meals ratio runs at approximately 55 to 60 percent dining and 40 to 45 percent meals.

The commercial performance tells a clear story: there is demand, there is loyalty, and there is a product worth building on. What the discovery session also revealed is a set of structural gaps that are placing a ceiling on the business's ability to grow reliably, expand confidently, and defend its position as organised competition increases in Vijayawada.

Area	Current Situation	Business Impact
Technology and POS	Three separate billing systems across units with no unified daily reporting	Management cannot see the full business picture in one view; decisions are based on incomplete data
Inventory Management	Manual and fragmented processes across three units; low purchase order volumes reducing profitability	Wastage, inconsistent procurement, and absence of cost benchmarks are quietly eroding margins
Staff Structure	No formal operational hierarchy; no dedicated managers for kitchen, floor, or store functions	All operational decisions escalate to Krishna directly; the business cannot scale without an intermediate management layer
Cost Tracking	No structured daily cost evaluation or end-of-day format for management review	Revenue is visible but profitability is not; there is no reliable mechanism to identify cost escalation early
Operating Procedures	No documented standard operating procedures for kitchen, floor, or billing functions	Service quality and output depend on individual staff behaviour rather than a repeatable system
Brand and Digital Presence	No structured positioning; Zomato listing and social media are underdeveloped	New customers form their first impression online and find an incomplete picture; discovery and conversion are being lost

The business has earned its reputation through product quality and founder commitment. The next phase of growth requires earning trust through operational consistency and brand clarity. Both tracks of this engagement are designed to deliver exactly that.

4. What We Understand About Your Market

Vijayawada is one of the fastest growing Tier 2 cities in Andhra Pradesh. Rising disposable income, expanding commercial activity, and growing digital food ordering adoption are all reshaping how hospitality businesses grow and compete here. The organised food service market in Tier 2 Andhra Pradesh cities is growing at 14 to 18 percent annually, with the family dining and traditional food segment showing the strongest customer retention numbers in the state. That is the environment Subbayya Gari Hotel is operating in.

Understanding the Vijayawada market requires more than national benchmarks. Consumer behaviour here is shaped by community dynamics, family dining traditions, and the strong role of reputation in purchasing decisions. A recommendation from a trusted source still carries more weight here than a social media advertisement. That is an advantage for a business with Subbayya Gari Hotel's established reputation. But it is an advantage that erodes quickly when inconsistent operations create inconsistent experiences.

Market Factor	Implication for Subbayya Gari Hotel
Zomato and Swiggy penetration in Vijayawada	More than 60 percent of first-time restaurant visits in Tier 2 cities are preceded by an online check. Ratings, photographs, and response time are the new storefront.
Rising family dining expectations	Vijayawada families are willing to spend more when the experience feels organised and trustworthy. Ambience, service consistency, and speed of delivery are increasingly influencing the dining decision.
Competitor expansion from Hyderabad and Visakhapatnam	Organised competitors entering Vijayawada bring POS systems, trained staff, standardised service, and digital presence. Competing on product quality alone is no longer sufficient.
Multi-unit format as a competitive asset	The combination of restaurant, cafe, and sweet shop serving different customer needs from one location is a genuine competitive advantage. It is currently underleveraged because the three units do not communicate as a single brand.
Direct ordering and delivery growth	The share of revenue from online orders is growing across all hospitality segments. A structured aggregator strategy and the capability to manage online channel profitability are becoming commercial necessities.

One observation that is not immediately obvious but matters strategically: the sweet shop unit has outsized influence on brand perception. Sweet shops in Andhra Pradesh carry community trust signals that restaurants alone cannot generate. A customer who buys sweets from a shop trusts its hygiene, its sourcing, and its values. That trust transfers to the restaurant. Subbayya Gari Hotel has a brand-building asset in its sweet shop that most hospitality competitors do not have, and it is not being used strategically.

5. What Will Be Different After This Engagement

At the end of three months, Subbayya Gari Hotel will operate as a fundamentally different business to what it is today. The changes will be visible to Krishna, to the management team, and to customers. The following are not aspirational statements. They are specific outcomes that the two tracks of this engagement are designed to produce.

What Exists Today	What Will Exist After Month 3
Three separate billing systems with no consolidated view	One unified POS system with a real-time dashboard accessible by management across all three units at any time
Manual inventory management with frequent gaps and wastage	A structured inventory system with par levels, automated reorder triggers, and weekly food cost reporting
No formal management layer below the owner	A defined org chart with Kitchen Manager, Floor Manager, and Store In-charge roles, each with clear KPIs and reporting lines
No documented operating procedures for any function	A complete operational playbook covering all FOH and BOH functions across all three units
No daily cost visibility for management	A daily cost and revenue format enabling end-of-day evaluation and next-day planning
No structured brand positioning	A defined brand strategy for Subbayya Gari Hotel with positioning, tone, communication guidelines, and a digital direction
Undeveloped Zomato and social media presence	A structured digital communication approach aligned to the brand's positioning, audience, and competitive context

Month 1: Operational foundation built --> Month 2: Brand strategy defined in parallel --> Month 3: Both tracks unified into the Subbayya Gari Hotel Playbook

6. The One Goal That Matters

To make Subbayya Gari Hotel the most operationally disciplined and brand-consistent hospitality business in its category in Vijayawada, so that growth is no longer dependent on the founder's direct presence in every operational decision.

Every element of this engagement connects back to this one goal. The POS consolidation gives management real data to make real decisions. The inventory system protects margins that are currently invisible. The staff structure creates a layer of authority that does not require Krishna at the centre of every operational moment. The SOPs ensure that quality is delivered through a system, not through individual performance. The brand strategy ensures that what Subbayya Gari Hotel stands for is communicated clearly and consistently to every customer who encounters it.

Founder dependency is the primary growth ceiling for businesses at this stage. It is not a character flaw. It is a natural consequence of how most founder-led businesses are built. This engagement removes that ceiling systematically, function by function, until the business can operate at its full potential whether or not Krishna is in the building on any given day. That is what operational and brand maturity looks like for a business of this scale.

The goal also signals something important for the future: Subbayya Gari Hotel has the potential to expand to additional locations, to develop a franchise model, or to build a Level 3 new brand from the same ownership platform. None of those paths are accessible to a business that depends on one person for its daily operations. This engagement clears the path.

7. What This Engagement Will Achieve

This engagement delivers outcomes across four measurable dimensions. Each dimension is connected to specific deliverables and reviewed at defined milestones throughout the three months.

Dimension	Outcomes Delivered by Month 3
Operational	Unified POS system live across all 3 units; inventory management system operational with par levels and COGS reporting; complete SOP playbook delivered; FSSAI compliance framework in place; kitchen and floor protocols documented and in use
Commercial	Daily cost visibility for management through structured EOD reporting; food cost percentage tracked weekly; contribution margin known per menu category; aggregator net revenue calculated and channel-wise profitability visible
Organisational	Formal org chart defined and communicated; job descriptions and KPIs in place for all key roles; shift schedules designed; recruitment brief ready for priority external hires; onboarding programme documented
Brand	Brand positioning defined and tested; perception gaps identified and addressed; communication guidelines produced; Zomato optimisation strategy documented; brand voice and tone established for all customer-facing channels

8. What Is Happening in Your Category

The traditional hotel restaurant segment in Vijayawada and across Andhra Pradesh is experiencing three simultaneous structural pressures that will separate the businesses that sustain growth from those that plateau or decline over the next 24 months.

The Systemisation Gap

Independent restaurants and local chains that operated on relationship and product quality are steadily losing competitive ground to entrants that operate on systems. Unified POS reporting, trained management hierarchies, standardised service protocols, and digital-first customer engagement are becoming the minimum acceptable standard for any business aspiring to grow beyond its current location. Subbayya Gari Hotel's product quality is a genuine differentiator. However, product quality alone cannot hold ground against a competitor that also offers product quality plus operational consistency.

The Digital Reputation Economy

Zomato reported in 2024 that over 60 percent of first-time visits to restaurants in Tier 2 cities were preceded by an online check. This number is growing. Ratings, review responses, menu photographs, and the recency of the last post on Instagram are now part of the customer's decision process before they even step through the door. Businesses that are passive in this environment are not neutral. They are actively losing customers to businesses that are managing their digital reputation deliberately.

The Multi-Unit Opportunity

Operating a restaurant, a cafe, and a sweet shop from one location is a competitive advantage that very few local businesses in Vijayawada have. It allows cross-category customer capture, higher per-visit spending, and a more complete relationship with the customer across different occasions. However, this advantage only compounds when the three units are managed as a single brand with a single operational standard. Currently, the three units operate independently, which means the advantage is present but not being activated.

The brands that lead this category in Vijayawada in five years are making their structural decisions today. This engagement positions Subbayya Gari Hotel to be one of them.

9. How Your Business Is Seen vs How It Needs to Be Seen

The Magsmen Brand Perception Gap Framework maps the distance between how a business is currently perceived in its market and how it must be perceived to unlock its next phase of growth. The gap is not a criticism of what has been built. It is a strategic diagnosis of what needs to shift.

Perception Dimension	Current State	Target State
Overall Brand Identity	A familiar and reliable local restaurant with good food; identity is tied to the founder's reputation and community familiarity rather than a distinct institutional positioning	A structured, trustworthy hospitality brand with a clear identity that communicates quality, consistency, and care across all three units and all customer channels
Service and Operational Consistency	Variable; the quality of the experience depends on who is working and what the kitchen situation is on a given day; customers tolerate the variability because of product loyalty	Predictable and consistent; customers know exactly what to expect every time they visit any of the three units; the brand delivers the same standard regardless of who is on shift
Digital and Zomato Presence	Minimal active management; listing exists but is not optimised; social media presence is underdeveloped; new customers cannot form a confident impression before visiting	Active and credible; reviews are acknowledged and managed, the menu is visually compelling and current, the brand story is visible, and new customers are given a reason to trust before they visit
Multi-Unit Brand Architecture	Three units sharing a location that do not communicate as parts of a coherent whole; customers do not experience them as one brand serving different needs	An integrated hospitality brand; the restaurant, cafe, and sweet shop feel like expressions of one identity, each serving a different occasion but all carrying the same quality signal
Staff and Service Experience	Warm when the right individuals are present; inconsistent when they are not; no documented service standard that transcends individual performance	Professional and standardised; every customer interaction reflects a trained team following clear service protocols that deliver the brand promise consistently

The tension between current perception and growth ambition is clear. Subbayya Gari Hotel is perceived as an excellent local restaurant. The growth ambition requires it to be perceived as an excellent regional hospitality brand. That shift requires two things simultaneously: operational systems that can deliver a consistent experience at scale, and brand communication that makes that consistency visible and memorable to customers. This engagement delivers both.

Current Perception: Familiar local restaurant with good food --> Target Perception: Structured regional hospitality brand with consistent quality and clear identity

10. What Is Holding the Business Back

The constraints identified in the discovery process are not isolated problems. They form a connected system where each constraint amplifies the others. Addressing one in isolation produces limited improvement. Addressing all five in the right sequence produces compounding improvement. This engagement is structured to do exactly that.

Constraint	What It Looks Like	Why It Matters
Absent operational infrastructure	Three POS systems, manual inventory, no documented SOPs	Every growth attempt creates management burden rather than management leverage; the business adds complexity faster than it adds capability
No middle management layer	Krishna is the decision authority for most daily operational matters	The business is scalable only to the limit of one person's energy and attention; beyond that it deteriorates rather than grows
Invisible cost structure	Costs are incurred without a daily framework to track or evaluate them against revenue	Margins are invisible; profitable and unprofitable activities are indistinguishable; pricing decisions are made without data
Undefined brand identity	Three business units operate without a unifying positioning or communication standard	Customer loyalty is personal, not institutional; the brand cannot transfer its reputation to a new location, a new format, or a new audience without a foundation of identity
Passive digital presence	Zomato and social channels exist but are not actively managed	New customer acquisition depends entirely on walk-in traffic and word of mouth; no scalable discovery mechanism exists; reputation is at the mercy of unmanaged reviews

|Operational gaps --> Management gaps --> Cost gaps --> Brand gaps --> Growth ceiling

This engagement addresses the chain from the operational foundation upward. The operational systems are built in Month 1. The management structure is defined and communicated across Month 1 and Month 2. The cost frameworks are operational from Week 2 onwards. The brand strategy runs in parallel from Month 2 so that both tracks converge in the final month into a unified operating and brand playbook.

11. What Happens If Nothing Changes and Where You Can Win

If the Business Continues Without Structured Intervention

The business will continue to perform at its current level for a period. Customer loyalty will hold, revenue will be broadly stable, and the product will remain strong. However, three forces will progressively erode that stability over the next 12 to 24 months. Organised competitors entering Vijayawada with POS systems, trained staff, and digital presence will capture new customers who would otherwise have discovered Subbayya Gari Hotel. Without cost tracking, margins will continue to erode invisibly while the revenue number looks acceptable. Without a management layer, Krishna's personal capacity will remain the binding constraint on every decision and every growth initiative.

The Opportunity Corridor

The Magsmen Opportunity Corridor maps three zones of competitive activity. The Crowded Competition Space is where price battles, undifferentiated menus, and visibility noise dominate. Most hospitality businesses in Vijayawada are competing here. The Emerging Differentiation Space is where new customer aspirations, trust gaps in the market, and experience quality create room for a business to step away from the crowd. The White Space Leadership Zone is where a distinctive brand narrative, premium perception, and community advocacy build a position that competitors cannot easily replicate.

Subbayya Gari Hotel has the product quality, the community trust, and the multi-unit format to move from the Crowded Competition Space into White Space Leadership. The missing elements are the operational systems that make consistency reliable and the brand strategy that makes the identity visible. This engagement provides both.

Stage	What It Requires	Where Subbayya Stands	Target After Engagement
Local Credibility	Strong word of mouth; loyal regulars; community recognition	Firmly established over years of operation	Maintained and actively reinforced
Regional Recognition	Consistent narrative across touchpoints; operational reliability; new customer confidence beyond the immediate community	Present in parts but held back by operational inconsistency and underdeveloped brand communication	Achieved through both tracks of this engagement
Digital Trust at Scale	Active Zomato and social presence; review management; visual menu quality; search visibility	Not yet achieved; passive presence only	Foundations laid in Month 2 and 3
Category Authority	Premium perception; thought leadership in the segment; market recall dominance; expansion readiness	Future ambition for the business	24 to 36 month horizon post this engagement

Subbayya Gari Hotel is at the Local Credibility stage with the ingredients to reach Regional Recognition quickly. The window to establish that position before organised competitors do is the next 12 to 18 months.

12. How We Work

Magsmen operates as a strategy partner, not a vendor. The difference matters in practice. A vendor delivers a set of outputs and exits. A strategy partner understands the business, thinks through problems with the owner, and ensures that what is built can survive and grow after the engagement ends. Every engagement Magsmen delivers follows a five-stage consulting discipline that applies regardless of the scope or the sector.

Stage	What Magsmen Does	What the Client Experiences
Discovery	Deep understanding of the business, team, market, and constraints through structured site visits and stakeholder interviews	A consulting team that arrives knowing the business, not just the brief; questions are sharp and answers lead directly to strategy
Diagnosis	All constraints mapped; root causes identified; symptoms separated from structural issues using the Magsmen Five Pillar Audit framework	A clear and honest picture of where the business actually is, not a polished version of what the owner wants to hear
Design	Frameworks, systems, and strategy built to address the diagnosis with precision	Structured documents, operational blueprints, and brand frameworks that are specific to this business and ready to implement
Delivery	All frameworks presented, validated, and handed over to the client team with training and context	The team understands what they have received and knows how to use it; nothing is left as a document without a person who owns it
Development	Implementation overseen, progress tracked, and adjustments made at defined milestones	The engagement does not end at document delivery; Magsmen stays until the system is running and the team is confident

Magsmen's proprietary frameworks applied in this engagement include the Five Pillar Audit for business diagnostic work, the 13-Stage Brand Creation Framework referenced in the brand strategy track, and the structured stage-gate review process that ensures quality at every phase transition. These frameworks reduce consulting ambiguity and give the client clear visibility into where the engagement stands at all times.

13. The Engagement in Phases

The three-month engagement runs across four phases and two parallel tracks. Track 1 begins on Day 1. Track 2 begins at the start of Month 2, after the operational foundation has been established. Both tracks converge in the final two weeks into a unified handover session that delivers the complete Subbayya Gari Hotel operational and brand playbook.

Phase	Timeline	Track	Focus Areas	Key Milestone
Phase 1: Audit and Design	Month 1, Weeks 1 to 2	Track 1	Site audits across all 3 units; technology current state assessment; inventory audit; team interviews and org review; cost head mapping; interior walkthrough	Audit reports complete; system design confirmed; cost tracking format delivered
Phase 2: Build and Install	Month 1 to 2, Weeks 3 to 6	Track 1	POS system oversight and setup initiation; inventory system design and software selection; org chart and JDs delivered; shift schedules designed; SOP drafting begins; cost tracking live	POS live; org design approved by Krishna; cost dashboard in active daily use
Phase 3: Brand Strategy	Month 2, Weeks 5 to 8	Track 2	Brand perception audit; positioning workshop with Krishna; communication framework development; Zomato and digital strategy; brand guidelines production; multi-unit brand architecture	Brand positioning statement approved; communication guidelines and brand guidelines delivered
Phase 4: Integration and Handover	Month 3, Weeks 9 to 12	Both Tracks	SOP finalisation; full staff training across all functions; brand and operations playbook integration; management review system installed; final handover	Complete Subbayya Gari Hotel Playbook delivered; team trained; management dashboard live; sign-off completed

Month 1: Operational systems built --> Month 2: Brand strategy in parallel --> Month 3: Both tracks unified into the Subbayya Gari Hotel Playbook

14. What You Will Receive

Every deliverable listed below is a specific, named output that will remain with the business and continue to generate value after the engagement ends. Deliverables are not reports written for consultants. They are tools written for the team.

Track 1: Business Restructuring Deliverables

Deliverable	What It Contains
POS System Recommendation and Setup Oversight	Evaluated shortlist of unified POS systems suited to multi-unit hospitality; setup coordination and vendor briefing; consolidated and unit-wise reporting configuration; GST-compliant invoicing setup; management dashboard access for Krishna
Inventory Management System	Integrated inventory framework linked to POS; unified item master across all 3 units; par levels and automated reorder triggers; FIFO and storage zone protocols; GRN documentation process
Purchase Order Process and Supplier Framework	Redesigned PO workflow from requisition to delivery; approved vendor list across all units; rate contract templates; delivery schedule standards; supplier performance tracking criteria
COGS and Food Cost Reporting Framework	Weekly Cost of Goods Sold report per unit and consolidated; food cost percentage tracking; budget versus actual variance analysis; contribution margin calculation per menu category
Organisation Chart and Role Architecture	Formal org chart across all 3 units with reporting lines and authority levels; defined management hierarchy from kitchen and floor to operations to owner
Job Descriptions and KPI Frameworks	Detailed job descriptions for all key roles including Kitchen Manager, Floor Manager, Store In-charge, and supervisory staff; measurable KPIs and daily accountability structure for each role
Shift Schedules and Manpower Planning	Shift design for 6:00 AM to 11:00 PM operations; duty rosters; handover protocols; break management; headcount requirements per unit per shift
Recruitment Brief for Priority Hires	Hiring criteria and assessment framework for senior and mid-level operational roles; interview process design; candidate evaluation guide
Onboarding and Training Programme	Structured induction covering brand values, operating standards, role expectations, and system usage; role-specific first-week training plan; service standards training for floor staff; POS and technology training
Complete SOP Playbook	SOPs for all FOH and BOH functions across all 3 units; opening and closing checklists; service flow protocols; kitchen discipline and hygiene standards; FSSAI compliance checklist; peak hour and high-volume protocols; parcel and delivery workflow
Cost Tracking and EOD Reporting Format	Daily cost head tracking format by unit; end-of-day cost versus revenue summary; channel-wise profitability view; aggregator commission tracking and net revenue calculation
Interiors Audit and Ambience Brief	Space audit across all 3 units; seating capacity optimisation recommendation; kitchen-to-dining flow assessment; signage review; brief document for interior designer to execute against

Track 2: Brand Strategy Deliverables

Deliverable	What It Contains
Brand Perception Audit	Assessment of how the brand is currently seen by customers and in the market; gap analysis against the intended positioning; digital presence review across Zomato, Instagram, and Facebook
Brand Positioning Statement	A tested, specific positioning statement defining what Subbayya Gari Hotel stands for, who it serves, and how it is different from competitors in the category
Brand Communication Framework	Message hierarchy for the brand; primary and secondary messages for different audiences and channels; tone and voice guidelines for all customer-facing communication
Multi-Unit Brand Architecture	Structural framework defining how the restaurant, cafe, and sweet shop relate to each other under the Subbayya Gari Hotel brand; naming conventions and identity direction for each unit
Digital Presence and Zomato Strategy	Zomato listing optimisation brief; Instagram and Facebook content direction; review management protocol; online ordering and direct channel strategy
Brand Guidelines Document	Visual and verbal brand standards; logo usage rules; colour and typography guidance; photography direction; application examples for menus, signage, packaging, and digital formats

15. Early Wins in the First 45 Days

A structured consulting engagement should not require three months to show results. This engagement is designed to produce visible and specific improvements in the first 45 days. The following commitments are based on the engagement structure and are not conditional on external factors.

Timeline	What Krishna Will See
Week 1 to 2	Full site audit completed; cost head mapping delivered; Krishna has a structured view of all cost categories across the business for the first time
Week 2 to 3	Cost tracking format live and in daily use; end-of-day cost versus revenue summary completed by the team every evening
Week 3 to 4	Org chart and all job descriptions delivered; every team member knows their role, their reporting line, and their KPIs
Week 4 to 5	POS system selected and setup initiated; Krishna can see all three units' daily billing from one dashboard
Week 5 to 6	Opening and closing SOPs in active use; the daily operation of each unit begins and ends with a documented protocol
Week 6 to 7	Inventory system framework live; par levels set; the store team is managing stock against a system rather than guesswork
Week 7 to 8	Brand positioning workshop completed; Subbayya Gari Hotel has a clear, agreed positioning statement and knows exactly what it stands for and to whom

16. Making Sure the Strategy Works Inside the Organisation

The most common reason a consulting engagement underdelivers is not that the strategy was wrong. It is that the organisation did not adopt it. Documents without adoption are decoration. This engagement includes explicit adoption enablement measures built into both tracks.

For the Business Restructuring Track

All SOPs and operating formats will be delivered with accompanying training sessions for the relevant team members. Technology systems will be set up with structured staff onboarding coordinated between the vendor and the Magsmen team. The org chart and role definitions will be presented to the full team in a structured communication session so that every person understands the change and their place within it. The management layer will be established through defined role handovers, not just document delivery.

For the Brand Strategy Track

Brand guidelines are only valuable when the people responsible for customer-facing materials know how to apply them. A practical application session will accompany the guidelines delivery, covering anyone in the business responsible for menu design, social media, packaging, and signage. The digital strategy will include a content calendar template that the team can use immediately without waiting for a specialist.

The Governance and Review Structure

Weekly review sessions will be held during Months 1 and 2. Monthly review sessions will be held in Month 3. Every session has a defined agenda sent 24 hours in advance, a decision register maintained after each session, and a clear record of what was agreed and what needs to be resolved before the next session. The total structured time required from Krishna across the three months is approximately four to six hours per week during active phases, reducing to two to three hours per week during Month 3.

System designed --> Team trained --> System in active use --> Performance reviewed --> Adjustments made --> System embedded in daily operation

17. Strengthening the People Who Influence Your Growth

In a hospitality business, the people who most directly influence the customer experience are the kitchen manager, the floor manager, and the team members those two roles lead. Building a management layer is not about creating bureaucracy. It is about creating capability that the business can depend on regardless of individual turnover. This section covers how the engagement builds people capability alongside system capability.

Role	Capability Being Built	How It Is Built
Kitchen Manager	Production planning discipline; cost awareness at the kitchen level; team management; hygiene and FSSAI standards	JD with measurable KPIs; kitchen SOP set; performance scorecard; training programme covering production and cost standards
Floor Manager	Service standard delivery; guest engagement and complaint resolution; team coordination during service	JD with measurable KPIs; service flow SOP; upselling and guest engagement training; shift management discipline
Store In-charge	Inventory discipline; PO process compliance; FIFO management; supplier relationship coordination	JD with measurable KPIs; inventory SOP set; system training on inventory software; GRN and stock management protocols
Billing Staff	POS proficiency; GST-compliant billing; speed and accuracy under service pressure	POS training programme; quick reference guide for daily operations; billing SOP
All Team Members	Brand values understanding; guest experience standards; daily operational discipline	Structured onboarding programme; team briefing on brand positioning; checklist-based daily protocols for every role

The recruitment brief for priority external hires will define hiring criteria, assessment methods, and onboarding timelines for the Kitchen Manager, Floor Manager, and Store In-charge roles. Magsmen will support the evaluation and interview process for these hires. The hiring decision and employment relationship remain with Subbayya Gari Hotel. Please refer to Section 21 for what is not included in the engagement scope.

18. How We Will Measure Progress

The Magsmen Brand Health Measurement Scorecard tracks five dimensions of brand and business performance throughout the engagement. These are reviewed at every weekly check-in and assessed formally at each monthly milestone. The scorecard gives Krishna an honest, data-driven view of whether the engagement is delivering what was promised.

Metric	What It Measures	Current Indicative Level	Target Direction	Review Frequency
Awareness	How many new customers are discovering the brand through channels beyond walk-in traffic	Low; primarily dependent on word of mouth and existing customer referrals	Increase through Zomato optimisation and digital presence development in Track 2	Monthly from Month 2
Trust	How reliably customers experience the same quality and service standard across visits and units	Medium; strong for regular customers; variable for new visitors	Increase through SOP adoption, staff training, and operational consistency from Track 1	Weekly operational indicator; monthly brand indicator
Differentiation	How clearly the brand stands apart from competitor restaurants in Vijayawada	Low; currently perceived as one of several local options with no distinct identity	Increase through brand positioning, communication framework, and multi-unit brand architecture from Track 2	Monthly from Month 2
Consistency	How uniformly the brand experience is delivered across all three units and all channels	Low; highly variable across units and dependent on individual staff	Increase through SOP implementation, training, and brand guidelines from both tracks	Weekly from Month 1
Advocacy	How frequently customers actively recommend the brand and leave positive reviews	Medium; strong word-of-mouth but not systematically captured or amplified	Increase through review management protocol and digital presence strategy from Track 2	Monthly from Month 2

This scorecard is not a reporting exercise. It is a decision-making tool. When a metric does not move in the expected direction, the scorecard tells us where to look and what to adjust. It makes the engagement accountable to outcomes, not just to activities.

19. How We Will Work Together

Magsmen manages the engagement to use Krishna's time efficiently and purposefully. Every interaction has a defined purpose, a pre-agreed agenda, and a documented output. The total structured time required from Krishna is predictable and manageable alongside his existing responsibilities.

Interaction	Frequency	Duration	Purpose
Site Visit and Discovery	Weeks 1 to 3: three visits	Full day per visit	Full site audit across all units; team interviews; stakeholder alignment; physical assessment for Modules 1, 2, and 4
Weekly Progress Update	Weeks 1 to 8	30 to 45 minutes	Progress review; decision items requiring Krishna's input; next-week priorities confirmed
Phase Transition Workshop	End of Month 1 and Month 2	2 hours each	Phase deliverable review; decisions required before next phase begins; alignment on upcoming scope
Brand Positioning Workshop	Month 2, Week 6	Half day	Brand positioning development with Krishna; communication direction agreed; multi-unit architecture reviewed
Monthly Review Session	End of Month 1, 2, and 3	90 minutes	Scorecard review; commercial milestone confirmation; engagement direction confirmed
Final Handover Session	Month 3, Week 12	Full day	Complete playbook handover; system walkthrough; full team training; sign-off

All routine communication between sessions will be managed through a dedicated WhatsApp group for daily coordination and ClickUp for task tracking, deliverable management, and milestone monitoring. Deliverables are shared for Krishna's review before milestone meetings, not during them, so that session time is used for decisions rather than reading.

20. The Investment and What It Means

Before presenting the fee structure, the investment must be understood through three lenses that reflect the real commercial value of what is being built.

What This Investment Prevents

At Rs. 49 lakhs per month in restaurant revenue alone, a 3 to 5 percent improvement in food cost management through structured inventory and COGS tracking represents Rs. 1.5 to 2.5 lakhs per month in improved margin. Untracked costs at this revenue level are not a minor inefficiency. They are a significant and recoverable loss. The investment in Track 1 alone is designed to pay for itself within 60 to 90 days of implementation through margin recovery and operational efficiency gains.

What This Investment Builds

A management infrastructure that allows the business to scale beyond the founder's direct supervision. A technology system that gives real-time visibility and replaces manual estimation with data. A brand that customers recognise, trust, and recommend, not just because the food is good but because the experience is consistent and the identity is clear. These are not one-time benefits. They compound over time and form the foundation for the Level 3 expansion work that follows this engagement.

What This Investment Reduces

Vendor management burden through a unified POS and inventory framework. Recruitment risk through structured job descriptions and a documented onboarding programme. Communication waste through clear brand guidelines that eliminate inconsistent materials and misaligned messaging. Management time spent on daily operational decisions that a structured system would handle without escalation.

Engagement Track	What It Covers	Investment
Track 1: Business Restructuring Consulting	Complete operational restructuring across all 6 modules. Guided execution support, SOP development, staff structuring, technology oversight, inventory framework, cost tracking, guidelines preparation, documentation, and training for the full team.	Rs. 6,00,000 + GST
Track 2: Brand Strategy for Subbayya Gari Hotel	One-time brand consulting covering perception audit, brand positioning, communication framework, multi-unit brand architecture, digital and Zomato strategy, and brand guidelines production.	Rs. 1,00,000 + GST
Total Engagement Investment	Both tracks, coordinated delivery, four on-site visits, and unified playbook handover across 3 months.	Rs. 7,00,000 + GST

Payment Structure	Trigger	Amount
Tranche 1: Advance	On contract signing before Day 1 of the engagement	Rs. 3,50,000 (50 percent)
Tranche 2	Delivery of Phase 1 and Phase 2 milestones at end of Month 1	Rs. 1,75,000 (25 percent)
Tranche 3: Final	On delivery of complete playbook and final sign-off at end of Month 3	Rs. 1,75,000 (25 percent)

Rs. 7,00,000 over three months for a business generating Rs. 49 lakhs per month in restaurant revenue alone is less than half a percent of quarterly revenue. The operational improvements in Track 1 are targeted to recover this investment within 60 to 90 days of going live.

21. What Is Not Included in This Engagement

Clarity on scope boundaries is part of a serious consulting relationship. The following items are explicitly outside the scope of this engagement. They are noted here so that there are no misunderstandings during execution and so that the commercial structure accurately reflects what Magsmen is responsible for delivering.

What Is Not Included	Explanation	What Magsmen Does Instead
POS Technology Purchase	Magsmen will evaluate, recommend, and oversee the setup of a POS system. The cost of the POS software licence, hardware, and vendor fees is paid directly by Subbayya Gari Hotel to the technology vendor.	Magsmen provides vendor shortlist, evaluation criteria, and setup oversight at no additional charge within the engagement scope
Hiring and Recruitment Services	Magsmen will design the org chart, write all job descriptions, define KPIs, and prepare the complete recruitment brief and interview process for priority hires. The actual recruitment, placement, and employment of new staff is not included.	The recruitment brief and process documentation are delivered as part of Track 1; Magsmen can provide names of recruitment partners if requested
Technology Integration or Development	If the chosen POS, inventory, or reporting systems require custom software development, API integrations, or platform-specific technical work beyond standard vendor setup, those development costs are outside the engagement scope.	Magsmen will specify requirements clearly and coordinate with technology vendors; integration oversight is included but development costs are not
Technology Hardware Purchase	Any hardware required for the engagement, including billing terminals, receipt printers, customer display units, kitchen display screens, handheld ordering devices, or computer equipment, is procured and paid for directly by Subbayya Gari Hotel.	Magsmen provides the full hardware specification and vendor brief as part of the POS module deliverable
Travel and Accommodation Reimbursement	All travel to and from Vijayawada for on-site visits, including transport and accommodation, will be reimbursed by the client at actuals and invoiced separately based on actual need. These costs are not bundled into the engagement fee.	Magsmen will provide advance notice of all planned site visits and submit travel expenses with receipts against a separate reimbursement invoice
Design Execution	The brand guidelines and	Magsmen will provide a clear design brief

What Is Not Included	Explanation	What Magsmen Does Instead
and Production Costs	communication framework delivered in Track 2 include all strategic direction, specifications, and application examples. If Subbayya Gari Hotel requires physical design production, including logo redesign, menu reprinting, signage fabrication, packaging production, or new promotional materials, those costs are outside the engagement scope.	and vendor direction so that the client can commission a designer or print vendor independently; if the design scope expands significantly beyond the guidelines, Magsmen can quote separately
Interior Renovation and Execution	The interiors module delivers a space audit, seating layout recommendation, and a complete brief for an interior designer. The physical renovation, construction, furniture procurement, contractor management, and renovation costs are entirely outside the engagement scope.	Magsmen will identify and brief a suitable interior designer; the design brief and layout recommendation are delivered as consulting outputs; all execution costs and vendor relationships sit with the client
Legal and Compliance Registrations	If the engagement reveals the need for FSSAI registration updates, GST structure changes, or other legal or regulatory filings, those are the responsibility of the client and their legal advisors.	Magsmen will flag compliance gaps as part of the audit and provide the relevant compliance checklist; the filing and registration process is the client's responsibility
Third-Party Software Subscriptions	Any ongoing monthly or annual subscription costs for POS software, inventory management tools, or digital marketing platforms recommended as part of this engagement are the client's direct commercial relationship with the relevant vendor.	Magsmen evaluates and recommends the most appropriate tools based on the business's scale and budget; ongoing subscription management is the client's responsibility post-engagement

These exclusions are not designed to reduce the value of the engagement. They are designed to ensure complete clarity on what Magsmen is accountable for and what the client must plan and budget for separately. Where any of these items require guidance or vendor coordination during the engagement, Magsmen will provide that support within the consulting relationship without additional charge.

22. Why Magsmen

Magsmen Brand Consultants is a strategy-first consulting firm operating across Andhra Pradesh and Telangana. The firm works at the intersection of brand strategy, business consulting, and legal brand protection. The methodology is built for founders and business owners who need structured thinking applied to real business problems, not generic frameworks borrowed from corporate consulting playbooks.

Regional Intelligence

Magsmen understands the Andhra Pradesh market in detail. The way families make dining decisions in Vijayawada is different from how they make them in Hyderabad, and different again from Guntur or Tirupati. The influence of community reputation, the role of trust in food purchasing decisions, the specific dynamics of the traditional hotel restaurant segment, and the pace at which digital adoption is reshaping discovery in Tier 2 cities are all things Magsmen has studied and applied in active engagements across the region. This is genuine local strategic intelligence, not national consulting with a regional label.

Business-Integrated Brand Architecture

Magsmen's approach treats brand and business as the same problem. Brand strategies that are disconnected from how a business operates, how the team is structured, and how revenue is generated do not survive contact with operational reality. In this engagement, both tracks are being delivered together precisely because the brand strategy in Track 2 will be informed by the operational reality encountered in Track 1. A brand strategy built without understanding the business from the inside is a positioning exercise, not a growth tool.

Proof Signals

Magsmen recently supported a regional consumer food brand in Andhra Pradesh in restructuring its pricing communication and distribution narrative, resulting in measurable improvement in distributor confidence and urban retail adoption within 90 days of implementation. In a multi-outlet hospitality engagement in Telangana, the organisational structure work Magsmen delivered reduced owner involvement in daily operational decisions by establishing a functional management layer that sustained itself independently after the engagement closed.

Long-Term Partnership Orientation

This proposal covers Level 1 Business Restructuring and a portion of Level 2 Brand Strategy. Level 3, the creation of a new brand by the Subbayya Gari Hotel founders, is the natural next step for which Magsmen's 13-Stage Brand Creation Framework is the designed methodology. Magsmen is not here for a three-month project. The intent is to be the strategic partner for the full journey from where this business is today to where it can be.

23. What Happens Next

The path forward from this proposal is clear and requires only a few decisions. There is no complex approval process, no extended waiting period, and no ambiguity about what happens after commercial confirmation. The engagement can begin within one week of the contract being signed.

Step	Action	Owner	Timeline
1	Leadership discussion to review the proposal, clarify any scope questions, and confirm timeline alignment	Krishna Mohan and Sandeep N	Within 3 days of receiving this proposal
2	Commercial confirmation: advance payment received and engagement contract signed	Both parties	Within 7 days of the leadership discussion
3	Week 1 site visit to Vijayawada: full site audit across all 3 units; deep-dive discovery with Krishna; team introductions	Magsmen Lead Strategist and Specialist Team	Day 1 to 3 of the engagement
4	Phase 1 deliverables begin: POS shortlist; cost tracking format; org chart draft; audit findings	Magsmen Strategy Team	Weeks 1 to 2
5	Brand Strategy track initiated	Lead Strategist and Brand Team	Month 2, Week 5
6	Final handover: complete playbook; team training; management system walkthrough; sign-off	Full Magsmen team and Subbayya management team	Month 3, Week 12

The Cost of Waiting

Every month that passes without a management structure is a month where costs remain invisible, staff perform without clarity, and the POS systems continue to give an incomplete picture. Every month without a brand strategy is a month where new customers encounter Subbayya Gari Hotel through an underdeveloped digital presence rather than a deliberate one. The market is not waiting. Competitors are making decisions. The window to establish structural advantage before the category becomes harder to lead is open now.

The businesses that lead the hospitality category in Vijayawada in five years are making their structural decisions today. This engagement is that decision.

Magsmen looks forward to building this with you.
